

IN BROOKLYN PLAY-HOUSES.

GEORGE'S LOVE FOR LENA.

"Across the Potomac" at the New Park.

"Robin Hood's" Return to the Columbia—Other Attractions.

"Across the Potomac," a war drama which had a measure of success in the metropolis, was given at Col. Sime's New Park Theatre in Brooklyn last night. The house was crowded, and it was an audience determined to be present for the dramatic war-treatment of the story. The piece has the familiar plot and situations of the war drama to-day, but it has a new appeal to a large class of people, and the week's engagement will no doubt prove highly successful for the theatre.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.
"Robin Hood," De Koven and Smith's opera, which was a success at the Columbia several weeks ago, began a second engagement at this theatre last night. The piece was well received and applause was liberally bestowed upon Karl, who appeared in the title role. H. H. Macdonald, the chief of Nottingham, W. H. Macdonald, an Litchford, Jessie Bartlett, as Alan A. Dale, and Charles H. H. Macdonald, as the chorus, were very effective, and the scene setting was perfect.

THE AMPTON.
"The Country Circus" performed last night before a goodly crowd of Eastern Theatre-goers at the Ampton. Characters were played by Frank Tannehill, Jr., C. H. Hawkins, Nat C. Jones, Miss Lottie Alter and others. The circus entertainment was supplied by Connel and his trained ponies. William De Mott, a clever back-back rider, and a horse, performed a very interesting horizontal bar, the (Grisette) family, acrobats, and others.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.
Many songs, dances and other specialties were witnessed in "The Dazzler," which was given at the Grand Opera House last night. Josephine, the principal comedian in the company, said some clever things, which kept the audience in good humor. The piece, billed the leading female role. Others in the cast were: Max Miller, John P. Murray, Josephine, and others. The piece was a success, and the company will be back in the city next week.

BEIDFORD AVENUE THEATRE.
Daniel Sullivan presented "The Millionaire" at the Bedford Avenue Theatre last night. The piece was a success, and the company will be back in the city next week. The piece was a success, and the company will be back in the city next week.

Prof. Kennedy and Horace Wheatley, the Gaiety, last night, at the Gayety Theatre, presented a new piece. The company was a success, and the company will be back in the city next week. The piece was a success, and the company will be back in the city next week.

WERE THE TALMAGES POISONED?
It is so Reported, but the Clergyman Has Heard Nothing of It.

At the home of Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, South Street, Brooklyn, today, it was stated that no information had been received from Mrs. Talmage concerning the alleged poisoning of some of the members of the family by eating cream cake.

Dr. Talmage, who only knew what was printed in the press, declared that the story sent out from Richmond, Va., that the Rev. Talmage had been poisoned, was a fabrication. He said that he had been told that the Rev. Talmage had been poisoned, but he had heard nothing of it.

BRIDGET MOORE IS HELD.
She Foiled Mrs. Miller with a Teapot and Took Her Share.

Bridget Moore, of 302 Hicks street, Brooklyn, was held for the Grand Jury this morning by Judge Tigue in the Butler Street Court.

She struck Ann Miller, a tenant in the same house, in the face with a teapot, knocking her down and then stealing a pocketbook containing $45.

44 500 FINE IN BROOKLYN.
At 12:15 o'clock this morning fire broke out in a three-story brick building in the rear of 44 500 Broadway, Brooklyn, occupied by the French Coffee Company. The fire extended to a three-story frame building at 215 Bergen street. After an hour the firemen got the fire under control. The French Coffee Company lost $1,000 on the building and about $5,000 on the stock. The dwelling house was damaged to the extent of $500. Mrs. Francis Moore lives on an "inmate" and Mrs. Mary Flower $500.

RECEIVER FOR JOSEPH RYAN.
Application was made to Justice Barrett in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning, for the appointment of a receiver for the assets of the business of Joseph B. Ryan, of 1044 Broadway, Brooklyn. It is an organized firm of real estate brokers, and Ryan, who died on Jan. 1, 1892, left a large estate. The application was granted, and the receiver will be named later.

PAINTERMAN KILLED BY BROTHER.
To-day dismissed William Hayden, of Brooklyn, for the murder of his brother, John Hayden, who was killed on Jan. 1, 1892. The jury found Hayden guilty of first-degree murder, and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

TYPHUS STILL ON THE GAIN. POLICE RAID A PRIZE FIGHT. LAWYER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Four Cases, Several Suspects and One Death.

Health Department Hope to Prevent Further Contagion.

The dread typhus continues to claim victims in the city, and despite the apparent hopeful view of the situation the number of its victims increases.

Today, up to noon, five cases were added to the list of sufferers, which now exceeds 200, and in all probability there will be more unfortunate to swell the list before nightfall.

The cases reported by the Bureau of Contagious Diseases this morning were Henry Gordon, twenty-one years old, of 30 Bowery, and Frank Verd, an Italian laborer of 1108 Railroad avenue.

The third victim was Cesar Bastian, thirty-two years old, an orderly on North Brother Island, who was taken to the hospital this morning, developed the disease.

The fourth case is that of James W. Mills, aged forty-six, a driver, of 437 West Fifty-sixth street, who walked into Bellevue Hospital about noon suffering with typhus fever. He was removed to a tent and the health officer notified.

Michael McDonald, aged thirty-five, was removed from his home on Blackwell street to Riverside Hospital this afternoon. He is afflicted with typhus.

George had been sick three weeks at the lodging-house on Bowery, and last night, believing he had the disease, he walked into the hospital. This morning he showed the characteristic symptoms of the disease.

Verd's case is something of a puzzle to the authorities and they are trying to trace its origin.

Dr. Roberts, the chief of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases, told the "World" reporter that Verd had been working in Mulberry Bend and had been in contact with a man named Verd, who had been in the hospital.

Verd was taken to the Harlem Hospital, and he was removed to North Brother Island during the night.

Four "suspect" cases came to the notice of the health officer this morning. One was a man named Verd, who had been in the hospital.

The two other suspects developed at Bellevue Hospital, making twenty-six in all under observation.

Joseph H. Culbert, thirty-three years old, a driver, of 437 West Fifty-sixth street, who walked into Bellevue Hospital about noon suffering with typhus fever. He was removed to a tent and the health officer notified.
